The Consolidated Water Power & Paper company has been receiving a large quantity of pulp wood from the farmers since the sleighing became passably good. They pay at the rate of $4.00 per cord for the stuff, as it is poplar, a wood which is very little use for fuel or other purposes, the farmers who have a amount to sell are doing well on the matter. The one drawback to the greater part of this kind of timber has disappeared from the country, as a consequence the revenue along this line is out off.

The Wisconsin state tax commission has sent out notice to the supervisors of assessment of the different counties, notifying them that a meeting of the commission will be held in the assembly chamber of the state capitol building, Tuesday Feb. 20. This is an annual meeting to which all supervisors are summoned. At these meetings the supervisors are given instructions in their work for the year following. The commission is composed of N. S. Ice dealers in the city a few hundred miles south of us has begun to worry about the continued mild weather, and it was the opinion that they would have to go to the northern part of the state to get their supply. It is probable, however, that if the present weather holds on for a short time longer there will be no trouble along this line. In 1889 the Chicago ice companies had to come to the northern part of the state for their supply, and the following summer ice was worth almost any price, and as a consequence there was a great deal of suffering among the people in the large cities who had been able to afford at least a limited supply.

Prof. Hicks says that a reactionary storm period running from January will culminate on February 1st and 2nd, closing with a cold wave 2nd to
5th. Regular storm period 5th to 9th.
By the 8th decided change to warmer,

Death of Nels Passineau.

Nelson Elmer Passineau, one of the old residents of Grand Rapids, died at his home in this city on Thursday evening of last week at the age of fifty eight years, cause of death being spinal degeneration.

Mr. Passineau was born in Grand Rapids on the 17th of January, 1848, and with the exception of a short time which he resided in Menasha, he has lived here ever since. Some thirty-three years ago he was married to Hattie T. Gothica at Menasha, and his wife and two children, a son and daughter, survive him. The children are Miss Lucy Passineau and Nelson Passineau, both of whom are in this city. Deceased was a member of the Woodmen of the World, in which he carried some insurance. He had been suffering more or less for the past three years, but has been confined to his bed most of the time since last fall, being able to be about the house only for short intervals at a time.

In the death of Mr. Passineau the community has lost a good citizen, his family a kind and loving father, and his passing away is one to be regretted by all.

The funeral was held on Monday from the Catholic church, Rev. B.
 Hegenroth conducting the services.

Among those who were present from out of the city at the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Albert King of Toms-hawk, Dr. and Mrs. Simonson of Tomsah, Dr. Smith of Tomsah, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Martin of Port Edwards.

AMONG CRANBERRY MEN.

EDITED BY W. H. FITCH.

[All communications and special exchanges relating to this department should be sent to Cranberry Men, Grand Rapids, Wis.]

Papers read at the recent meeting of the Wisconsin State Cranberry Growers Association.

Buyers Point of View.
A. C. Cheney.

This is a subject that is a very important one in the future. It means a big thing to go in a foreign country and means considerable expense and you must have much backing and co-operation. There are very few growers who can afford to sacrifice their crop or time to go out and create markets for all the others.

There is no organization that can do it, they may partially do it but they could not have the success that means wide distribution. I think the time is coming when all the cranberry growers of the country must go together in one giant organization, and when they all organize they are doing it successfully and for the benefit of the industry. Compare sections in which other fruit is grown with the sections where cranberries are grown, you can see it would naturally be much easier for them to go together than it would be for some other organization. Take the Orange Growers Organization of California. There are 20 to 25,000 acres of oranges shipped from California every year. There is no question that the Growers Exchange has very much enlarged and increased. They have spread over the United States and have reached almost every market of the globe. The shipping lines and the railway lines make satisfactory rates. Today they can ship oranges to Liverpool as easily and cheaply as they can to Chicago.

They have opened offices in all parts of Europe. The demand has kept pace with the increase of fruit. It is a still proposition for a buyer to support to the growers in this country that it is the time for them to organize. They don't see the necessity of organization or co-operation. Now, I believe that the Wisconsin people will organize, but it is a different proposition to get the New Jersey or Cape Cod people to organize. When there is this organization then the introduction of cranberries to all foreign markets can be easily accomplished with the least expense to all the crop marketed. I don't believe the Growers Cranberry Co. would care to take this up and take the chances on the expenses. It is necessary for an organization of growers to be together in order to create wider distribution; for one buyer to get out and try to buy all the berries and then go and spend his money, it would be impossible to buy all the berries, but take an organization with 95 per cent of the berries produced in this country, and they can create this market.

It is for the interest of the growers of organization to create the demand of the country to get together and organize in one giant organization, and demand for cranberries can be created, but I do not believe that the Wisconsin growers organization alone could afford to spend the money to attract the attention of the great shipping organizations.

They have been talking on the Cape and they say that they would like to see the time when all the cranberry growers would get together, there is only one way to go at it and that is for the growers to do it themselves. For the benefit of future industry, the growers ought to be together and organize and work together. Any combination of growers can get a man that knows how to manage and market for them, but the first thing is to get together, then create the demand.

It is a fact, we have a good organization down East; the Growers' Cranberry Co., has done much for the growers, the Cape Cod Cranberry Sales Co., has done much for the members but they could do much more, but they market their berries in the old style for the reason that they still sell everything on commission. They have only two or three markets and know no other markets in the country. They put up the berries and when they are willing to sell them, we always buy them. They look upon Wisconsin growers as competitors. They now have a blanketed and for anything going to the Pacific coast, but they realize that Wisconsin some day is going to produce a great many berries. The great majority of Early Blacks are sold west of Chicago. If Wisconsin organizes and some day produces the berries it is expected to, it will compel them to organize too.

You have got every advantage in the world and in an organization you can bring about the matter of rates you are entitled to, but you are not likely to get them without organization. I believe the key-note of the organization is right here in Wisconsin. Wisconsin people seem to have confidence in each other. This is the key-note and can work harmoniously. There is nobody worry organization more than the cranberry growers. I believe that the interest of the organization growers is in that thing and will spread and sow the seed and if the basis is started and they are successful and show results, the growers will be glad to come in with you, and this will create such advantage, and by working together other growers will see it.

Question Box.
A number of inquiries were submitted from various cranberry districts and referred to keeper of experimental station for report at next August meeting. A vote of thanks to the janitor, Edward Makonay, was unanimously passed and meeting then adjourned.

Will Attract California Tourist.
Dedicated out of the ordinary is a booklet on California issued by the passenger department of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway. It is a typographical standpoint it is exceedingly attractive, while the description of "winter's summer garden" is enticing. One merit the publication has is that of telling all that is essential for a prospective tourist and then stopping. Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway.

Statistics Season 1905.
The following additional replies have been received in response to an inquiry by Hon. John A. Gaylor, statistician of the Wisconsin State Cranberry Growers Association regarding amount etc., of current year's yield. It is hoped that full reports can be obtained for the good of all in the industry.

Wisconsin.
BLM LAKE.—Thirteen hundred and fifty (1350) bbls. Gaylor Cranberry Co., P. O. address, Grand Rapids.

Michigan.
ALPENA.—Seventy (70) bbls. Alpina Cranberry Co.

New Jersey.
COOKSTOWN.—Eight hundred (800) bbls. My crop was very short this fall. Hope to do better next fall. James Tantum, P. O. address, Bordentown.

POMONA AND MALAGA.—Thirty three hundred (3300) bbls. one half crop A. J. Rider, P. O. address, Hampton.

HAMMONTON.—Two hundred and sixty-four (264) bbls. First in early June. Mrs. J. H. Richards, P. O. address, 604, Drexel Road, Philadelphia.

WILLIAMSTOWN.—Six hundred (600) crates. Crop 1904, 14,000 (14,000) crates. M. M. Chew, P. O. Cent.

VINELAND.—Four hundred (400) bbls. L. A. Adams.

SOUTH LAKEWOOD.—Eighteen thousand six hundred (18,600) bbls. C. L. & J. D. Holman, P. O. Whitesville.

GREENWICH.—Seventy-five (75) bushels. My crop was very short as you will see by card. Partly on account of late frost after drawing the count of which I did on sixth, 6th, seventh, 7th, and eighth 8th of May, and having turned off about six (6) acres and rest with new vines makes quite a little difference. Chas. T. Jones.

Massachusetts.
TAUNTON.—None. My estimate of the crop, taking Taunton for the center, is about one-half (1/2) of crop of 1904, for a distance of ten (10) miles each way. Chas. H. Macomber.

BROCKTON.—One hundred and fifty (150) bbls. Don't ship them, sold them here in Brockton. B. Field. My cranberry crop is prospective only as yet. I am interested in the matter and am following it up for a purpose, but have no crop so far. E. L. Brown.

NORTH DUXBURY.—One hundred and seventy-five (175) bbls. Clarence Boylston, P. O. Milton.

NORTH BARNSTABLE.—Three hundred and thirty-six (336) bbls. W. T. Makopence.

EAST CARVER.—Seven hundred and forty-five (745) bbls. Not much water yet for flowing. A. P. Vaughan and son, P. O. Middleboro.

SOUTH MIDDLEBORO.—One hundred and eighty (180) bbls. George B. Allen, P. O. Marion, R. T. D.

FREMONT.—One hundred and sixty-one (161) bbls. Extremely hot weather in July killed many of the blossoms, and fruit worms later took one half (1/2) of the berries. W. A. Tillson, P. O., South Carver.

Next to none. As you must know by this time the crop on Cape Cod this year was very small. Price per bbl. here now thirteen dollars ($13). P. O. B. F. Anderson, P. O., South Carver.

Three thousand (3000) bbls. I am at East Haver now from first of December until first of May. Balance of year at South Carver. A. S. Rogers, agt., Atwood Bog Co.

Three thousand two hundred and sixty-one (3261) bbls. One hundred and sixty (160) acres bog in bearing. Federal Cranberry Co., P. O., South Carver.

ONSET, JUNCTION, WEST BARNSTABLE.—Thirteen hundred and sixty-two (1362) bbls. about one fourth crop. J. C. Hammond, Mgr. The South Hammond Company, P. O., Onset.

NORTH CARVER.—Two hundred and forty-one (241) bbls. Rocky Meadow Co. Six hundred and forty-four (644) bbls. Carver Green Co. (each) 1/2 crop. Wm. L. Walker.

Very truly yours,
H. J. Cox, Professor Weather Bureau
Madison, Wis., Dec. 29, 1905.
Mr. W. H. Fitch, Cranberry, Wis.
Dear Sir:—Dear Henry drive me to write you that the papers you so kindly sent me were duly received and placed on file in the library with the "Cranberry Grower". Any publications coming from which you may be able to send me from time to time will be appreciated, as we wish to make our file of this material as complete as possible.

The Dean regrets that the impaired state of his health and the pressure of many duties will make it impossible for him to attend the coming convention of the Cranberry Growers Association. He thanks you for the invitation and sends his kindest regards.

Yours very truly,
(Mrs.) S. M. Briggs, Librarian.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 22, 1905.
Mr. W. H. Fitch, Cranberry, Wis.
Dear Sir:—Thank you for your courteous invitation to attend and take part in the annual meeting of the Wisconsin Cranberry Growers' Association. We have so much on our hands that it will be impossible to do so but will gladly make a notice of the meeting for the next issue of Orange Judd Farmer.

With best wishes for the continued success of the Wisconsin cranberry industry Yours very truly
Orange Judd Farmer.

Huge Consumption of Wooden Fence Posts.
The difficulty of obtaining fence posts at reasonable prices has given an impetus scarcely realized to forest planting in the Middle West. Newspapers, farmers' institutions, women's clubs, and boards of trade throughout the region are pointing out the need of such material and dwelling on the profit realized by the few men who planted trees years ago, and whose plantations have been successful. The local supply of all forest products is insignificant, and timber, if not grown at home, must be imported. With the continuous retreat of the sources of supply under the attack of the vigorous demand, the length of transportation increases and the cost of transportation rises higher and higher. Yet the fields and pastures must be fenced. The posts must be had.

The annual logging camps of the country, as reported by the last Census, is 8,715,661. How many times greater than the annual cut from the home woodlot no figures exist to show; but by taking the total number of farms and their acreage and making conservative allowance for posts for the fences inclosing each farm, it has been estimated that upwards of 1,000,000,000 posts are set each year. Such figures are too vast to mean anything. Even the nine million posts of the Census, a mere drop in the bucket as compared with the unreported production, would, if set 16 feet apart, girdle the earth, or would build a solid pile 65 feet wide, 40 feet high, and a mile long.

Durability and at least moderate strength are the desirable qualities for fence posts. The use of species which are not durable is expensive, both on account of the more frequent renewal which is necessary and because repairing is consequently called for. Timber of the required quality is produced in the Middle West by hardy catalpa, black locust, and Osage orange.

Catalpa makes an excellent growth on deep, porous, fertile soil, but only on such soil. Five or six inch posts should be ready to cut in about ten years. In regions immune from the locust borer black locust will yield satisfactory returns from soil in which catalpa would fail, and for this reason it is adapted to a wide area where the rainfall is light. Under ordinary conditions, locust should produce fence material in fifteen to twenty years.

Osage orange also is not exacting in its soil requirements. It is being extensively planted for hedges and wind-breaks, from which considerable yield of fence posts may be obtained. It makes satisfactory growth on dry soils and reaches post size in from fifteen to twenty years.

Several other species, such as white willow, European larch, Russian mulberry, and red cedar, are also being grown with good results, but none of them is better fitted to supply fence posts than those first named.

The Forest Service fully recognizes the importance of fence posts in farm economy and the great demand for suitable timber. Studies of various growth and durability of various species have been made, and the line of the commercial planting range of each has been closely defined. Rapid-growing species which are not durable have been studied to determine some form of preservative treatment which will increase their durability. Further work along this line will undoubtedly add largely to the list of species which can furnish the desired product.

Starting but True.
People the world over were horrified on learning of the burning of a Chicago theater in which nearly six hundred people lost their lives, yet more than five times this number or over 3,000 people died from pneumonia in Chicago during the same year, with scarcely passing notice. Every one of these cases of pneumonia resulted from a cold and could have been prevented by the timely use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. A great many, who had remedy, were cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and especially for colds and influenza. I know that it cured my daughter, Laura, of a severe cold, and she has never had her life when she was threatened with pneumonia. W. D. Wilcox, Logan, New York. Sold by John E. Daly, druggist.

"California Winter's Summer Garden."
is the title of an exquisite sample of letter press art, just off the press. The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. P. railway has outdone all previous efforts in this beautifully colored book. It is a departure from the vast multitude of railway literature. Only a limited number will be issued, to be used to interest travel to California via "The Overland Limited" on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway.—Official Railway Guide, Chicago.

Sent to any address for six cents' postage. P. A. Miller, general passenger agent, C. M. & St. P. Ry., Chicago.

iron works, who make a specialty of manufacturing machinery of this sort.

Next Sunday is Lincoln's Birthday Sunday, and Mr. Sheard of the Mackinac church will preach at 10:30 a. m. on the subject, "Lincoln as a Christian." The annual offering by this church for the work among the poor of the south will be given at this service. At 7:30 p. m. the subject will be "The Fool of the Gospel and Greater Fools Than He."

William Breunauer, who is doing junior work at the Lincoln high school, was the only one to make the civil service examination that was held recently in this city. He not only passed the examination but has been rendered a position in the Green Bay reformatory as guard, with chance of promotion. He has the offer under consideration.

Richard Sheard has a coop of four Wyandotte pullets, which during the month of January laid 70 eggs, 6 doz. and 4 eggs. That is an average of 19 eggs each during 31 days when hens are not supposed to do much. For the first five days of this month the four hens have produced on an average, 8 eggs per day. Richard says it pays to keep the right kind.

Fred Beall departed last Friday on his third eastern tour under the management of Harvey Parker for a meeting all centers this week at a theater, N. Y. theater. During his absence he will endeavor to arrange matinees with Tom Jenkins, who claims the world's championship, and Frank Gorch, who is considered by many to be Jenkins' master. Parker is willing to bet $1000 that Beall can throw any man in the world.—Marshallfield News.

The Consolidated Water Power and Paper company has been receiving a large quantity of pulp wood from the farmers since the sleighing became passably good. They pay at the rate of $4.00 per cord for the stuff, and as it is popular, a wood which is of very little use for fuel or other purposes, the farmers who have any amount to sell are doing well out of the work.

The one drawback is that the greater part of this kind of timber has disappeared from the country, and as a consequence the revenue along this line is cut off.

The Wisconsin state tax commission has sent out notice to the supervisors of assessment of the different counties, notifying them that a meeting of the commission will be held in the assembly chamber of the state capital building, Tuesday Feb. 20th.
This is an annual meeting to which all supervisors are summoned. At these meetings the supervisors are given instructions in their work the year following. The commission is composed of N. S. Gilson, Geo. Car-tus, Jr., and Miss P. Hansen.

Landlord Mulroy received a letter from Jacob Sucklinger, the young man who was sentenced to a service term in Waupun for horse stealing, on Tuesday, stating that he would pay on the board bill that he jumped as soon as he was able to after being released from jail. Sucklinger had been stopping at the Commercial house and ran on a boardbill amounting to $8, which he forgot to pay when he went wrong. As Mr. Mulroy has been in the hotel business for many years he naturally takes promises of this kind with a grain of salt.

A woman who was a great tale-bearer happened to hear one neighbor speak lightly of another and immediately carried the words from first to the second neighbor claiming that she thought as a friend, she ought to let the second neighbor know what the first was saying. But instead of thanking the talebearer, the neighbor said: "It makes no difference to me how many rotten eggs my neighbor has on his premises, but the person who carries the decayed hen fruit to my house and breaks it under my nose is my enemy. A sermon in an egg shell.—Exchange.

Ice dealers in the city a few hundred miles south of us has begun to worry about the continued mild weather, and
it was the opinion that they would have to go to the northern part of the state to get their supply. It is probable, however, that if the present
weather holds on for a short time
longer there will be no trouble along
this line. In 1899 the Chicago ice companies had to come to the northern
part of the state for their supply,
and the following summer ice was
worth almost any price, and as a consequence there was a great deal of
suffering among the people in the
large cities who had been able to

Prof. Hicks says that a reactionary
storm period running from January
will culminate on February 1st and 2nd, closing with a cold wave 2nd to
5th. Regular storm period 5th to 8th
By the 8th decided change to warmer, wind and growing cloudiness, severity the 9th look for a series of violent wind storms, beginning with rain and sweeping northwest blizzards.
Reactionary period central 12th and 13th. This period may be counted on for heavy snow and blizzards—some of the hardest of the winter, and will wind up with a general
